Principal's Message

Dear parents,

I would like to extend warm welcome to you all to the new academic session.

A child's first learning institution is his or her home. Needless to say, roll of parents in education and all round development of a child is very vital and cannot be under estimated. They play a major roll in building up the foundation and thereafter shaping the carrier of child by their valuable guidance. Children learn the most from their parents and the environment in which they are raised.

Students cannot achieve their full potential unless their parents are actively involved in their education. Research shows that parents who take a keen interest in their children's education are more likely to create successful adults. Positive parental involvement increases student achievement, reduces bad behavior, improves attendance, and increases student satisfaction at school. Conversely, students whose parents are not involved in their education generally earn lower grades, get into more trouble at school, and feel less happy there.

In other hand roll of the school is equally important. Schools play a significant role in human development and shaping carrier of a child. School helps a person to develop him / her academics so that he can support society. The child is, therefore, able to function in the community. Schools also prepare students by contact with other individuals to meet other backgrounds, values, and feelings.

Therefore the best tip for a child's success is to make sure that parents and teachers are working together. So dear parents, let's work together as allies and build a bright future for our children.

*Sincerely,
Principle
Babita Rawat*
